

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

The Five Hundred Thirtieth Convocation | June 10, 2017

EACH SPRING, THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO observes a long-standing tradition of gathering as a community to confer degrees on candidates who have completed their courses of study. Literally a “calling together,” we call this ceremony “convocation,” a term denoting ritual assembly, rather than commencement or graduation. For us, this is a moment to celebrate individual achievement as well as institutional continuity. The first convocation was celebrated in January 1893 under founding president William Rainey Harper.

The 530th Convocation of the University of Chicago will assemble all elements of the University community: degree candidates and their families and friends, faculty, deans, officers of the University, the trustees of the University, the provost, and the president. This is a University-wide ceremony involving degree candidates from all divisions and schools. It will include a presentation of honorary degrees, an address from the convocation speaker, and the University president will verbally confer degrees on candidates by division and school. Each division and school will host a separate hooding or diploma ceremony, where degree candidates will be honored individually through the presentation of diplomas or hoods.

This promises to be an exciting and memorable day for graduating students. We look forward to welcoming family and friends to celebrate in their achievement.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

University Convocation: Degree candidates wear the cap and gown appropriate for the degree they are to receive, regardless of previous degrees received. Doctoral candidates are not hooded at the ceremony, but candidates who have received their hoods may wear them. Because convocation is a formal and traditional ceremony, we ask that any attire or adornment worn by candidates be appropriate for the occasion.

Division and School Ceremonies: Academic attire is to be worn at the diploma ceremony for each division and school; rules for adornments may vary. Please consult with your dean of students office for details.

ORDERING ACADEMIC REGALIA

Academic attire is available for rent or purchase through the University of Chicago Bookstore, in person at 970 East 58th Street or by phone at 773.702.7712.

Bachelor's and Master's Degrees: Attire will be available for purchase at the bookstore ($49 for bachelor's degrees; $54 for master's degrees). Attire will be sold until June 10, but it is strongly suggested that you do not wait until the week of convocation. The cap and gown will be yours to retain as a keepsake.

Doctoral and Law Degrees: Attire will be available for rent at the bookstore ($65, plus $42 to rent a hood). You may also rent your attire online for the same pricing at oakhalli.com/universityofchicago. Be sure to place your order by Saturday, May 27. Rented academic attire will be available for pick-up at the bookstore beginning Wednesday, June 7, and should be returned to the bookstore after your ceremony. If you prefer to purchase attire, call 773.702.7712. Please allow four to six weeks for delivery of purchased attire.

All candidates receiving bachelor's degrees will follow the schedule listed for the College. Additional information can be found online at seniors.uchicago.edu.
